

Rachel works for SpeakEasy N.O.W. She told us that she struggles to find Easy Read and often needs to ask her support worker to help.

Easy Read helps people with learning disabilities to understand difficult information. But it's not always ready when people need it.

When Easy Read is late, people can't be as independent. Rachel wants to read her doctor's letters on her own, without waiting.

EasyMaker helps make Easy Read fast, so people get important information quickly.

Rachel uses Easy Read at work and home. She works at a charity that helps people speak up. Easy Read helps her and others understand things better.

EasyMaker is free to try. It helps make information easy to understand. This can help your team make things more accessible.

You can read about EasyMaker here:
www.photosymbols.com/easymaker

You can read about SpeakEasy N.O.W. here:
www.speakeasynow.org.uk